

Blockchain Leadership Award

Description of Award Category

The Blockchain Leadership Award is an individual award. It honors a person who has shown exceptional leadership in a blockchain collaboration or implementation within an enterprise, an industry, a government, or a multi-stakeholder organization. This individual has gone above and beyond the job description to spearhead blockchain initiatives within an enterprise or ecosystem.

Application questions:

1. Provide background on the individual you are nominating for this award, including relevant qualifications and roles of influence within academic and/or scientific communities. We may use responses to this question on the W3B Awards website and in print materials. (This question will not be scored. Limit 1000 characters).
2. Describe how this individual is championing blockchain in an industry, supply chain, or other ecosystem. Be specific as to initiatives undertaken, opportunities created, diversity of people included, successes achieved, and potential long-term effects of these efforts. (Limit 2500 characters)
3. What story best captures this person's leadership approach and impact? What difference has this person made in the lives of others directly or indirectly through blockchain projects and programs? Is there anything else you would like us to know about this individual as a leader in the blockchain space? (Limit 2500 characters)
4. Please share one to three pieces of quantitative evidence (with accompanying sources) in support of this nomination. Examples of quantitative data include ratings, scores, population reached, number of citations, h-index, number of patents filed or awarded, number of invited guest lectures or conference presentations, or other numeric data.

Example: The nominee has authored or co-authored eight peer-reviewed journal articles on the topic of blockchain in healthcare since 2018, which have been cited more than 382 times.
